

BECOME A DISTRIBUTOR

KOALAPUBLISHING

- Self-Employment
- Guaranteed Returns
- Not a Franchise Business
- No Set Up Fees
- Honest & Genuine Business Opportunity servicing existing retail customers

Koala Publishing is an Australian company that designs produces and distributes a range of quality, market leading greeting cards, gift wrap, gift bags and social stationery. A significant reason for Koala's success is its network of self-employed Distributors around Australia providing a personalised service to thousands of retailers who enjoy great returns from the high sell through of Koala products.

Koala Publishing recruits motivated, energetic people to operate their own business using Koala's successful distribution model.

Koala's established territories have extensive, established customer bases across Australia in both regional and CBD areas.

Koala Publishing's Distributors have:

- The desire to succeed and build on existing sales
- Excellent communication skills
- A passion for delivering an excellent customer service
- Sound book-keeping, invoicing, ordering and computer skills
- A suitable and reliable vehicle to transport stock and display racks
- A reasonable level of fitness
- A safe and secure location to store products and display racks
- ADSL Internet connection

Koala provides Distributors with:

- Dedicated training program
- Start up equipment
- Exclusive territory with existing customer base and income stream
- Sales representative to help increase business in the territory
- Ongoing support from our National Office

Distributor territories are limited to 1 Distributor per territory and are rarely available.

Distributorships provide a fantastic opportunity with flexible working hours to work quite autonomously running your own business. Distributors can be rewarded financially for hard work with the support of a great Australian company supplying a proven, exciting range of products.

If you are passionate about providing quality products and services and building great customer relationships we encourage you to apply.
